

PRESENTERS

Julia Robertson, Barrister, Quay Legal, Wellington

Julia was admitted in 2011 after graduating from Victoria University of Wellington and gained experience in criminal and family law in firms and as in-house counsel. In August 2017 she joined Quay Legal as a Barrister Sole and now specialises in criminal defence and parole work. Julia is a member of the NZLS Wellington Branch Criminal Law Committee and is the Convenor of the Parole Law Committee. In her defence work she often appears in the Family Violence Court in Porirua and has a strong sense of the broader social justice issues facing those who come into contact with the court.

Professor Julia Tolmie, Faculty of Law, University of Auckland, Auckland

Professor Tolmie currently teaches Criminal Law, Criminal Law and Policy and Women and the Law. She served as chair of the Family Violence Death Review Committee from December 2011-2015 and served as a member of the NZ Government's Expert Advisory Group on Family Violence in 2013. Prior to her appointment at the University of Auckland she lectured in the Faculty of Law at the University of Sydney for 10 years. She has published and delivered conference papers around the world on a wide range of subjects within the general areas of criminal law and family law, with a particular focus on the impact of the law on
